

The changes we're making are more than skin deep.

We've changed our name from U.S. Foodservice to US Foods. It reflects a small, yet very big change for us and for you.

Our new name and look are a reflection of our passion for food and the many improvements now underway at US Foods. Our sales reps will soon be showing you exciting new products and sharing new food ideas. And we're working on making our service experience easier for you every step of the way.

At the new US Foods we're dedicated to keeping kitchens cooking across America. We think you'll agree our passion is permanent.
Learn more at usfoods.com

