

July 1, 2010

I am pleased to welcome you to the 2010 U.S. Foodservice National Safety Championship news hub.

Out of 12,000 drivers and warehouse selectors the top 60 will advance to the national competition. To be counted among them is truly an honor. The overall performance of the U.S. Foodservice drivers and selectors who participate in the competition exemplify the commitment of our entire driving force to safely share the road and warehouse floor with other motorists and people.

The competition is a great challenge, and it is always an exciting and fun event. However, it is more than that. It is a demonstration and reminder of the importance of safety.

By stressing safe operations and practices, U.S. Foodservice is ensuring that each of you goes home to your family and friends safe and sound every day. This competition is both a celebration of your talents and an expression of how significant your well-being and safety are to this organization.

I wish everyone a safe and successful competition in San Antonio.

Best,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Stuart Schuette', is written over a light gray rectangular background.

Stuart Schuette
Chief Operating Officer
U.S. Foodservice